BRITISH CAPTURE
SECOND LINE OVER
FOUR MILE FRONT*Surprise Germans by Quickly Renewing Their Offensive.*STRIKE HARD ON THE FLANK

French Continued Pressure Against Verdun Will Soon Be Relieved; Halt Noticeable in Russian Offensive,
Where the Tenthens Are Replenished.

By Associated Press.
LONDON, July 14.—The British correspondent at the British front telegraphs that the British forces have captured the village of Villers and most of the village of Ouliers.

LONDON, July 14.—At daylight this morning the British, resuming the offensive north of the Somme, attacked the German second line defenses and, according to the report of their commander, General Sir Douglas Haig, succeeded in penetrating them on a front of four miles. Press dispatches from the front add that the village of Barentin-le-Grand and Longueval north of Montaubert, and the remaining portion of Trones wood, were taken by the British.

While it was expected the British would not allow any great length of time to elapse before continuing their operations, it was hardly believed the second German line would be broken after only one day of artillery preparation, for it was only on the day before that they reported capture of the first line in the region between fiardecourt and Ouliers. The direction of the attack was something of a surprise, for instead of pushing on toward Comblis, General Haig chose to attack the flank of the Germans, who faced Comblis and Ouliers, and those who still occupied Foziers.
The advance to Longueval and Unde-le-Grand, if accomplished, gives the British possession of other important roads running in various directions which have been a great help to the Germans in supplying their army directly south of the Ancre river.

News of the British success was received in London with the greatest enthusiasm. It has given added weight to the request of the government to workmen to forego the August holidays so that the army may be kept well supplied with munitions.
The supplies already on hand would be greater than was generally believed and General Haig would not have been able to continue his offensive without an interruption.

There was no news this morning of important developments on the western front, but at least accounts the French were preparing to resume their offensive south of the Somme, while the Germans were still hammering at the defenses of Verdun. The opinion is held in France, however, that continuation of the Somme battle will compel the Germans to slacken their efforts at Verdun, which now have been in progress nearly five months, especially as the French estimate the Germans lost 12,000 men in counter attacks on Comblis.

The Russians have made no noticeable advance on any part of their front since they gained the Stokhod river, where the struggle continued desperately. The right bank apparently has now been cleared of Germans, but it is not known whether the crossing made by the Russians has given them a firm footing on the left bank. General von Bothmer, having received reinforcements, has succeeded in holding the Russians in Che-locia, but with delay in the hands of the Russians, they possess an advantage from which further success is expected.

The operations in the Caucasus are becoming more and more important.
After suffering heavy losses in their counter offensive the Turks are now being pressed back toward Delirant and Erzincan, while in Persia the Russians have brought up reinforcements to meet the Turks, who drove them from Kermanshah.

PARIS, July 14.—The Germans made two attempts last night to storm French positions north of the Aisne at a point south of Villa-au-Bois, but were checked by the French machine gun fire, the war office announced today.

On the Verdun front, artillery fighting continues in the Souville sector.
There were patrol engagements in Chenolle wood.

DAM BILL PASSES.

It Regulates Development of Federal Water Power Sites.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—The general dam bill, introduced from the Senate, which passed the Senate, regulating water power development in na-vailable streams, was passed by the House today, 37 to 17.

The bill, which provided for a system of leases under government regulation of rates and practices, is designed to induce investment of private capital in the development of water power.

Goes to Jail.

Walter Jackson, a negro, was given 15 days in the county jail by Mayor Marietta this morning. There were several charges against Jackson, drunkenness being one of them.

AFTER SAFETY GATES.

Unlabeled Looks for Early Action on the Part of the Railroad.

Unlabeled anticipates that safety gates will be placed at the principal railroad crossings in the town within the next few weeks. Attorney J. B.
Adams, to whom has been assigned the duty of special counsel in the matter of safety gates, is to meet officials of the Baltimore & Ohio and the Pennsylvania some time next week, when definite action is expected.

Under the third class city law, railroads may be compelled to install safety gates. Connellsville has as yet made no move to protect its crossings.

4 PASSENGERS ON TRAIN SHOT

Made Targets Near Bucyrus While Occupying Observation Platform

By Associated Press.
PITTSBURGH, July 14.—It became known today from official reports received by the Pennsylvania railroad, that four passengers on the Chicago-New York train No. 29, known as the Broadway Limited, had been wounded by shots fired at the train near Bucyrus, Ohio, last night. The wounded were J. W. Ward, Pittsburgh; H. C. Collette, Philadelphia;
DICKIE NEWMAN, New Orleans;
DICKIE NEWMAN, New Orleans.
The passengers were sitting on the observation platform of the last car when a man fired his shotgun at the train.

Two shots were fired and the scattering missiles struck the passengers in the legs.

A physician boarded the train at Lima and after dressing the wounds, said none of the injured was in danger.

SOLDIERS RAID BAKERY

New York Guardsmen Fight for Food at Erie.

By Associated Press.
ERIE, Pa., July 14.—When the New York Central train carrying the Seventy-first New York regiment to the border stopped here this morning, hundreds of the militiamen dashed from the train and seized the entire contents of a bread wagon standing near the depot, and also took all the fruit from a vendor's cart. Then they rushed across the street to a small bakery and raided it.

Officers and soldiers with rifles rounded up the food-hunters and rushed them back to their coaches after compelling them to pay for everything taken. The soldiers complained they had not eaten since 10 o'clock yesterday morning.

CLEVELAND, July 14.—Seven hundred guardsmen from eastern states passing through Cleveland over the Nickel Plate railroad left the train yesterday afternoon when it stopped at the Broadway and East Ninth street depot and proceeded to raid nearby stores and commission houses, taking food and merchandise, and destroying what they could not carry away.

The men said they had not eaten in 36 hours. The troops belonged to the Sixty-ninth, Seventh, Fourteenth, Twelfth and Twenty-third New York
Infantry and the First New York Field Artillery, all from the metropolitan area and Troop C, from Utica, N. Y.

PROGRAM COMPLETE.

House Leader Reports Carrying Out
Wilson's Program.

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 14.—Democratic leader Kitchin reported to President Wilson today that with the passage of the corrupt practices bill, the House will have completed the entire legislative program suggested to Congress by the President.

He asked if any additional legislation was desired and Mr. Wilson replied that he was satisfied with the work done by the House and had no further recommendations.

Sausage Factory Burns.

COPENHAGEN, July 14.—According to the Kler Zeitung, Helms's sausage and meat-curing factory in Halberstadt, one of the largest concerns of the kind in Germany, and recently engaged in carrying out army contracts, was burned down late in June.

FIRST GUARDSMEN UNDER FIRE ARE TEXANS; DRIVE
OFF BAND OF VILLISTAS

By Associated Press.
SAN ANTONIO, Tex., July 14.—Today, Second Texas Infantry, came the distinction today of being the first of the national guard to exchange shots with Mexicans when they presented a raiding party from crossing the Rio Grande near Donna, Tex.

Six armed Mexicans, attempting to enter American territory at 5 o'clock this morning, were detected by outposts. They were ordered to halt, but continued advance. The Texans opened fire. The fire was returned, but discontinued after a minute, the Mexicans hurrying back to their own country.

None of the Americans was injured and it is believed none of the Mexicans was hit.

EL PASO, July 14.—Machine gun companies are to be organized in all the infantry regiments of the Pennsylvania guard, now on duty here. The necessary equipment for the Tenth Infantry will be tested early next week, when drilling will begin.

THE PITTSBURGH
COAL OPERATORS
STRONGLY OPPOSE*The Contentions of the Coke Region for Reduced Rates on Coal.*SEEK TO PREVENT COMPETITION

From This District: Collision With the Railroads to Keep Connellsville Out of the Markets Is Planned; A Big, Still Fight Is Developing.

Special to The Courier.

ATLANTIC CITY, July 14.—At yesterday's hearing in the Connellsville Coal Tariff Association's case before the Interstate Commerce Commission the opposition was confined almost exclusively to the attorneys for the Pittsburgh district operators. Attorneys for the railroads took small part in the grilling cross-examination of witnesses. As the hearings proceed it is becoming more and more evident that the coal operators of the Pittsburgh and other districts have resolved to attempt to stifle coal competition from the Connellsville region. Several times during the proceedings yesterday it was rather loudly hinted that collusion exists between the coal interests and the railroads to shut the coal trade of the Connellsville region out of the markets in competing districts. Attorney Andrade made a second attempt to introduce the test imony which was the case of the Pittsburgh Coal Operators' Association against the Pennsylvania railroad before the Pennsylvania Public Service Commission recently, during which the situation in the Connellsville region figured prominently. Prompt objections to the admission of this testimony were made by the attorneys for both the coal operators and the Pennsylvania railroad. Attorney Andrade will renew his efforts at today's session at which time he will present his offer in a modified form. "Our case," he declared, "is as much against the operators of the Pittsburgh district as it is against the railroads."

Today was largely consumed by the submission of detailed data showing the discrepancies in the mileage advances from the Connellsville and Pittsburgh districts respectively. The cross examination of Engineer Pohl was concluded. During its progress the Pittsburgh and West Virginia operators attempted to disprove the contention of Attorney Andrade that the Connellsville region cannot compete for coal trade under existing freight rates. Attorney Frank Lyon, speaking for the Pittsburgh operators, evinced a diversion in his answer to an objection of Attorney Andrade. On cross examination Attorney Lyon admitted Engineer Pohl if he thought an adjusted freight rates would counteract the competitive advantages of Connellsville coal in the market.
Attorney Andrade objected, stating that the witness, though an engineer, was just as competent to give an opinion on freight rates as a traffic expert. "The experts themselves haven't any method of making rates," he declared.

Later Carl M. Johnson, also attorney for the Pittsburgh operators, asked Mr.
Pohl if he expected complete competition between Connellsville and Pittsburgh because the economic importance of the Connellsville product has deteriorated. Counsel for the Connellsville operators objected to this question declaring that the point at issue is whether or not the present freight rates are higher than the traffic will bear.

Tables of the published tariffs and district maps, prepared by B. F. Hor-racher of Pittsburgh, and J. P. Muller, accountant in charge of the rate case department of Atchafalca, Mitchell & Company of Washington, were submitted in evidence. Witness Muller stated that the statistics used were based on the testimony given by H. N. Griggs of the New York Central lines in the general freight investigation, and indicated that a few simplifications and omissions had been made in the previous testimony of Expert Griggs which would militate against the Connellsville operators' contentions. He statican Northwestern train, filled with

People Plans of Business Men Fail to Progress Rapidly.

The Business and Professional Men's Credit Association held a meeting last night, but could do very little because of the small turnout. President F. T.
Evans was not present, and so no attempts were made to plan for the plein of the association.

President Evans was to appoint a committee for the outing at Oakford Park, and he is expected to do so within a few days. No steps will be taken until this committee is selected.
Some routine business was transacted last night.

GAS SUPPLY TO BE OFF SUNDAY

Fire Whistle Will be Blown if Local Fields Fail to Meet the Demand.

There is danger of a gas shortage on Sunday, according to a notice issued by the Fayette County Gas Company today. Repairs on the 12-inch main feed line near Messmore will make it necessary to shut off this line for about four hours, beginning at 1 o'clock in the afternoon.

During the period the gas is off no commercial consumers will be supplied and the Fayette county wells will be depended upon to supply the domestic demand.

In event the pressure is not sufficient, and it becomes necessary to shut down the gas supply altogether, one long blast will be blown on the fire whistle. A second blast will be sounded just before the gas is turned on again.

The company suggests that the gas supply to business houses and public buildings be turned off after business hours Saturday night, or on Sunday morning.

BODY IS RECOVERED

Shark Nearly Severed Trunk of Man-was Creek Victim.

NEW YORK, July 14.—The body of Lester Sillwell, who was attacked and killed by a shark in Matawan creek a few days ago, was found at low tide today, 200 feet from where he disappeared. The body had been bitten nearly in two above the waistline.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Tragic stories of attack by sharks upon bathers along the New Jersey coast were discussed at today's meeting of the Cabinet. Later Secretary McAdoo announced that the coast guard would be ordered to do what it could toward clearing the coast of the dangerous fish and preventing further loss of life.

man merchant submarine Deutschland, submitted to Acting Secretary Folk today by the government neutrality board, is understood to hold that the vessel is a peaceful merchant craft and entitled to all privileges as such.

Indications now are that the State Department will make no formal announcement concerning the submarine but that the Treasury Department will be advised to permit her to clear and sail from Baltimore whenever her captain desires to start on her return voyage.

SUMMERVILLE, N. C., July 14.— Two men were reported killed and extensive damage done in Charleston by the storm which swept up the Atlantic coast last night, and continued today.

LOCAL CHAPTER, D. A. R., WILL MAKE BANDAGES
FOR COMPANY D BOYS

Philip Freeman Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, has undertaken the task of making abdon-inal bandages for the boys of Company D. Plans for an all-day sewing will be made at a meeting to be held in the armory at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon. This will be an open meeting and members of the D. A. R. are expected to bring a special invitation for the presence of every woman in Connellsville who is interested in the soldier boys along the border.

Because of the fact that the local chapter, being young, is short of funds, an appeal will be made to the merchants for contributions of either dan-del or money with which to buy it.

Colonel Richard Coulter, commanding the Tenth Regiment, is making an effort to have every company supplied with abdominal bandages. Company E at Mount Pleasant has already been supplied, while the Needlework Guild of Greensburg has undertaken to supply Company I. The local chapter will

Other Communities Suffer More Than Connellsville: Electric Light Service Interrupted and Some Movie Shows Close: Lightning Is Severe.

The thunderstorm yesterday, while doing little damage in Connellsville, proved disastrous in many nearby communities. Scottdale and Unlabeled town had played a broken leg between here and Mount Pleasant was delayed.

The West Penn power failed, and the lights were alternately off and on throughout the night. In Unlabeled the moving picture shows were broken up through the lack of electric lighting. Scottdale suffered in this way, and in various parts of Connellsville the lights were off for a short time.

The rain caused slippery street car tracks and it is due to this that a West Penn car got away yesterday afternoon and ran across its stop at Brimstone Corner. The motorman lost control of his car, but shouted and aved for people to get out of the way. The policeman on the corner took up the cry and cleared the streets. Other men soon saw the conditions and joined in the efforts to protect men and women along the streets.
When the car had reached the West Penn waiting room it stopped of its own accord.

The runaway car did no damage, but many accidents were narrowly avered. Afterwards the West Penn had lots of sand sprinkled on the Main street hill.

Incidents of lightning striking houses were few. In addition to the burning of the Keys barn yesterday, in which two horses were killed and another stunned, two other cases were reported, one from Mount Pleasant and one from Tarr.

The noon car came into Mount Pleasant in flames. The lightning had run into the car, which is of the one-man type. Conductor Edward Byrly soon extinguished the flames.

A house at Tarr, occupied by a foreigner, was struck in yesterday's storm. The building was soon in flames, and the entire interior of the house was burned out. The furnisings were ruined.

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

The annual picnic of the Christian Sunday school held yesterday at Blackstone grove was a great success, despite the thunder storm, which occurred shortly after the picnicers had partaken of an elaborate picnic dinner. The winners of the athletic events were as follows: Fifty yard dash for women over 16 years old, Helen Hatter; race for women, Cecile Henry; race for girls under 16 years old, Elizabeth Waddell; race for men over 18 years old, Walter Schuch; race for boys under 16 years old, Roger Lanning; race for children under six years old, John Harkwick; ball throwing contest for ladies, Mrs. Nelson Harnett; race for far women, Miss Minnie Murray. Clasper, Miss Grace Strawn, Miss Gertrude Stegely, Miss Bertha Cunningham and Miss Rose Moore all of Connelville; Mr. and Mrs. William One of Uniontown, were guests of the club.

Hoffman was in charge of the opening of the Bible study, while Mrs. E. E. Photo was in charge of the lesson study which was "Home Missions in Action." Refreshments were served.

The South Connelville Woman's Christian Temperance Union held a successful social at the home of Mrs. Rebecca Shelly in South Connelville. The affair was well attended and many of the members paid their dues. After devotional exercises were conducted by Anna Aris, a program of readings and music was rendered. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

ADVISES AGAINST STRIKE

Bruce Tells Delegates Not to Vote for Walkout.

By Associated Press.

PITTSBURGH, July 14.—Declaring that the Frick Coke Company, the coke making subsidiary of the United States Steel Corporation, was negotiating for the absorption of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, LeRoy K. Bruce, a delegate, told the convention of United Mine Workers here today that it would be folly for them to strike against the New York agreement.

Other speakers pointed out that since a strike would not have the financial support of the national organization, the miners would experience difficulty in raising the $150,000 a week which suspension would require.

The delegates, who represent 50,000 union miners in the Pittsburgh district, hope to reach a vote on the strike question late today.

Various amusements are being planned for the day and the committee in charge will make a special effort to have the outing the largest and best ever held. Dancing will be the amusement in the evening. Kiefer's orchestra will furnish the music.

trouble and indigestion," he explained,
"and although I had doctored several years I could not get any relief.
"I would just beat up like a mule and get cramps after eating. Yes sir, I would feel all out of shape. The only relief I could get was by taking a little soda, and that relief was only for an hour or so at a time.

"It was a lucky day for me when I got this Tanlac, and I certainly do thank the fellow who recommended it to me. Tanlac is the only medicine that really ever helped me, and I had tried everything. Yes sir, everything.
I am now like a new man and I advise any one who has stomach trouble sure will cure them. My phone num-

FRIDAY EVENING, JULY 14, 1916.

VICTORY ASSURED.

Beyond the selection of candidates comparatively little activity has marked the progress of the presidential campaign. The enthusiasm usually aroused by organized effort is not needed this year in order to create a strong sentiment in favor of the Republican nominees as the fit and proper successors to the present incumbents.

The sturdy character of Justice Hughes, his qualifications for the high office, and the lusten for which he stands make a strong appeal that thoughtful men everywhere are coming to his support without the necessity of being either impetuous or brought under the spell of campaign excitement in order to change their party allegiance.

Party leaders and others who are in position to be advised and are competent to measure the trend of public opinion, observe that the support of Hughes is both spontaneous in character and of growing strength and proportions. This is manifest in so many quarters and in such a significant manner that his choice as the next president is generally assumed. Few men in public life are better qualified by experience and their knowledge of men and affairs to interpret the signs in the political sky than Senator Penrose. After an analysis of conditions as they have developed in the country at large, Senator Penrose makes this sweeping prediction of victory for the Republican ticket:

I frequently have asserted that the Republican nominees for President and Vice President would be elected in November. I am still more confident of this now that Hughes is the nominee for President. The nomination was made spontaneous by the convention in response to an unquestioned popular sentiment, and he has not even yet promptly. I predict that he will make one of the most successful presidents of this country. He is the man of the hour, and will rescue the country from the incompetency of the Wilson Administration and restore sanity and prosperity under Republican domination for another 20 years. I do not know of any Northern State that he will not carry, and most of the Southern States, where, in many sections, the business of slavery is still being carried on. He is the only man who can pull off their thrills with none of the guardians of the public thoroughfares to molest or make them afraid.

The Greenback Tribune classes the hillclimb as one of the most sensational and spread events pulled off in the country. "It is a gamble with death," this paper and advocate of sane sports declares. "The road is one of the most precipitous and there are several points at which the motorist's chances are always below the fifty-fifty mark. It seems that the road is arbitrarily closed for the occasion and a large sum is realized for the grand stand seats at points of vantage where the red competitors of these cars appear. The crowd with delight as the motorist hovers on the brink of disaster. This famous hill climb perhaps serves for a freak test of the power of cars but has no particular advantage other than its prevention by the authorities will not be seriously missed by those who would not down the number of speed fiends rather than further encourage them in their madness."

If the Centonaut sports find it impossible to suppress their desire to drive high power cars at express train speed around the rim of the Turkey's Nest and past the Watering Trough on one wheel why not build some new Dips of Death on private property along the mountain side where they can pull off their thrills with none of the guardians of the public thoroughfares to molest or make them afraid?

THE PASSING BEEHIVE OVEN.
The Conneltsville coke operators, always keenly alive to changing conditions which affect the coke trade, were doubtless the first to realize that the successful commercial development of the by-product oven would mean to the Conneltsville region. Also early aware of the limitations placed upon the successful operation of a by-product plant, with respect to the close proximity of an important producing market for its gas, the owners of beehive ovens became convinced the retort process of coke making was not an economic possibility in the coke region.

For certain good, sufficient and no doubt prudent reasons, the Conneltsville operators did not advertise these facts, which sustained a vital relation to the future of their trade, but they presented the business of beehive coke making with wanted vigor, leaving to others the work of promoting and exploiting the by-product fuel. While it is true, as The Daily Iron Trade asserts, that the beehive operators have long been silent concerning the passing of the primitive type of oven, the admission ought also to have been made that this silence has been more or less discreet.

Our Cleveland contemporary having discovered that the Conneltsville operators have thrown aside their reticence and that they "are openly confessing" that the beehive oven is being supplanted by the more modern type, further asserts: "While there will be active demand for Conneltsville fuel for many years, it is yet apparent that plants whose overhead expenses are high and whose product does not come up to standard specifications, slowly are falling by the wayside. Inroads made by the by-product coke oven industry already have made it extremely difficult for sellers of beehive oven fuel to command prices that even to be warranted by general market conditions. Despite price advances registered by all grades of fuel since January 1, last, Conneltsville coke for shipment the remainder of the year has been obtained at considerably less than prices ruling six months ago for delivery the first and second quarters of 1916.

"One manufacturer of by-product coke in Eastern Pennsylvania has disclosed a surplus of from 1,000 to 2,000 tons a day, to blast furnace plants in the east that had used Conneltsville coke since the first application of the new fuel. Some of this recent coke was sold at 22, Conneltsville, that price excluded beehive coke, which also hoped to obtain $2.50. The beehive coke oven industry already severely dented will be pushed toward the ropes farther if we may reason to the vicinities of the public waste by the early completion of about 500 additional retort ovens in the Central West. Four hundred and thirty-nine retort ovens are now in completion in Ohio. Two ovens will furnish about 125,000 tons of coke a month to blast furnace plants now supplied by Conneltsville coke-makers. Conneltsville operators, with few exceptions, have not become down-in-the-mouth, strange as it may seem. They realize, and have realized for a long time, in fact, that the wasteful beehive coke oven eventually would be pushed into the discard by more economical processes of making fuel for blast furnaces, cupolas, heating furnaces, smelters and the like. Fortunately, active demand exists for the cooking coal of the Conneltsville region for shipment to by-product oven plants.

"To place the Conneltsville coal fields upon an equal competitive footing with the bituminous coal regions of the Pittsburgh and Westmoreland districts, the Conneltsville Coal Traffic Association has been formed. It is composed of the best known makers of 15-hour and 72-hour coke in the coke trade. The Daily Iron Trade hopes that the association will be able to effect the desired reduction in freight rates applying to the Conneltsville territory. The Interstate Commerce Commission would make a serious mistake not to permit the railroads to enjoy a reasonable profit from their heavy investments in the Conneltsville district. Unless freight rates applying to the district in question are reduced substantially, both the beehive coke-makers and the railroads will suffer."

It is reasonably certain that after the case of the Conneltsville Coal Traffic Association is presented to the Interstate Commerce Commission that the latter body will have little difficulty in the determining the merits of the controversy. If the contention be supported, it will be found that the Conneltsville operators will be as ready to ship the best by-product coal as they are now, and heretofore have been, able to ship the best coke made in the "passing" beehive oven.

MOTOR MADNESS.

The decision of State Highway Commissioner Black that he will not tolerate the use of the National Road, from Hopwood to the Summit as a race ground of speed fiends, is being heartily commended by press and public alike.

The Greensburg Tribune classes the hillclimb as one of the most sensational and spread events pulled off in the country. "It is a gamble with death," this paper and advocate of sane sports declares. "The road is one of the most precipitous and there are several points at which the motorist's chances are always below the fifty-fifty mark. It seems that the road is arbitrarily closed for the occasion and a large sum is realized for the grand stand seats at points of vantage where the red competitors of these cars appear. The crowd with delight as the motorist hovers on the brink of disaster. This famous hill climb perhaps serves for a freak test of the power of cars but has no particular advantage other than its prevention by the authorities will not be seriously missed by those who would not down the number of speed fiends rather than further encourage them in their madness."

If the Centonaut sports find it impossible to suppress their desire to drive high power cars at express train speed around the rim of the Turkey's Nest and past the Watering Trough on one wheel why not build some new Dips of Death on private property along the mountain side where they can pull off their thrills with none of the guardians of the public thoroughfares to molest or make them afraid?

The data obtained from the performance of vehicles in the hill climb is a combat will be of value in determining what can be expected of them in "time of war." Is the burden of the famous Preparedness argument in favor of a new National Pike for road building in the mountains, the great obstacle from the road will be of value to the promoters, and the value will be immediate and certain, not to be delayed.

Colonel William A. Stone's plan for the use of the National Pike for the proposed hill climbing contest is far-fetched in every sense of the term.

Dunbar will vote on a bond issue for street improvements, sewers and water supply. It is time Dunbar was modernizing. She has four municipalities, by-product coke ovens and Western Maryland yards coming. Dunbar is not a decaying and decadent town, but one of the coming communities.

RIPPLING RHYMES.

BY WALT MASON.

THE AUTO

The auto fills a long-felt want, for it enables us to jaunt far from the city streets, and we can breathe the country air, and hear the tolling farmer's sweat, and watch him husking beans. Before the auto made its bow, we seldom looked upon a cow, or saw a setting hen; and all we knew of bubbling brooks, and syren bells, we learned from books, with by some weary pen. The country seemed so far away! And when we'd toiled the long, and day, we could not journey there; we staid in our dismal rooms, amid the city's smells and fumes, and longed for country air. The auto's brought the country near; and from our lordships disappear the furrow and frown; and we can take our willing wives, and put some sunshine in their lives, by jogging out of town. Oh, we can seek the rural valleys, and see the cattle wag their tails, and hear the tinklers caw; and we can drink the country breeze, and wind our car around the trees, and chortle as we go. The auto is a boon to men; it's making old folks young again, it keeps us all enthused; it makes each day a holiday. It drives the cares of life away—when it is sanely used.

Fat Men

By GEORGE MITCHELL.
Author of "At Good Old Swack"

A fat man is a man who thinks Providence is happy whenever he weighs a pound less than he did a month ago.

Then men are gladdened in shape and wear collars that look like a draw string. They have legs and feet like other men, but have to take someone else's word for it. It's really fat men were to meet his own feet on the street he would pass them by as strangers.

Some men weigh 200 pounds and are not fat, while others weigh 200 pounds and are fat. The difference is in the way they work their way through the dining room door. It all depends upon the height when he fully grown he is generally fat and should not be looked upon as a man.

Put men come in odd shapes and are usually not artistic. They bulge in places like a Turkish mosque and when a tailor starts a suit for a fat man he says, "You're a good fellow, but you've got to have a waistline." There is nothing more pathetic than a pair of pants which have just been completed for a man who wears too-tight socks. They look like a pair of knee brackets for football.

The fat man leads a timid and worried life. He is always thinking about thin-legged chaps and elevator cables, and when he sits down in a street car he knows that he is a line later by three people.

Three people who are standing. Doing a heavy freight business as he does, he is unable to walk fast, and no he has been invented that will hold up a fat man who is a good free sloucher without getting tired and letting him down occasionally.

The fat man enjoys winter, for even the coldest days can't get through him until 15 B. M. But in April he begins to melt and by July he has to mop his face with a rubber window cleaner every five minutes. When a fat man becomes inundated all the way through he consists of pure misery, especially if he is too polite to wear a collar button and carry the rest of his neck-hairiness over his arm.

In spite of all his troubles, the fat man is good, kind and good-natured and is usually approached fearlessly by weak agents. There is no greater heart than a fat man with a dark red overhanging neck hanging down, usually on the first July day as he jokes about the weather.

The Dealer's Viewpoint

Frequently a newspaper is asked to induce local merchant to co-operate with some manufacturer's general advertising. It would get a reply like this if it attempted to comply:

"I have built my business and individualized my store through newspaper advertising. You say newspaper advertising is good; I know it is good. Why don't this manufacturer spend his money where his newspaper advertising will create a direct demand over my counters for the product?"

The local dealer is glad to co-operate with the manufacturer's advertising when it appears in the newspapers of his city.

We put it up to Hundreds of Dentists

Long before SENRECO was offered to you we submitted it to hundreds of dentists, requesting that they put it to every test. Told them that we believed Senreco to be an unusually good dentifrice, especially as to its cleansing qualities and its remedial action on sore, soft, bleeding gums; in the treatment of Pyorrhea, etc. Submitted the formula and asked them their opinion. They tested Senreco from every angle; some going even so far as to make a chemical analysis.

And They Voted Yes

With practically one accord—said:

"Senreco appeals to me more than any dentifrice I have ever seen." "I cannot say too much for Senreco. It's one of the best I have used." "I can recommend Senreco as the best." "Makes the teeth glister and is free from trititious ingredients, including purgative and grit." "I am glad to get a tooth paste that does the work." "Congratulate you on formulating a dentifrice that gives one a new idea of mouth cleanliness, etc." (These quotations are from the dentists' reports. Originals on file at our office.)

With such endorsements from the men who know why not go to your dealer, today and get a tube of SENRECO—25c. Keep your teeth REALLY CLEAN, and protect yourself against Pyorrhea and decay.

A copy of the folder, "The Most General Disease in the World" together with a liberal trial size tube of SENRECO will be mailed you for 4c in stamps. The Santal Remedies Co., Inc., Dept. D, Masonic Temple, Cincinnati, Ohio.

At the Theatres

SOISSON THEATRE.

"WHO'S GUILTY?"—The Pathe company presents Anna Nilsson and Tom Moore at the Soisson Theatre today in the two reel drama, "Who's Guilty." The title of this one is "The Tangled Web," and takes up the case of an unhappy marriage. A girl is tricked by her guardian into believing her sweetheart unfaithful. She marries another man and when her sweetheart returns from a business trip, she finds that it was a trick. Later her husband finding them together shoots them both. Maria Sala and Ollie Kirkby in the two reel drama, "The Social Pirates." In this episode they are pitted against portrait thieves. "The Money Lenders," is a 101 Bisca two reel thriller with Marie Walcamp and Lee Hill. It is a story of the efforts of a man in the clutches of money lenders to retrieve his fortune, even at the risk of his daughter's happiness. GLOBE THEATRE.

"THE RED WIDOW"—John Barrymore, the screen's foremost comedian, is today appearing in a dramatization of the celebrated comedy "The Red Widow," by Channing Pollock and Remond Wolf. Other members of the cast are Flora Zabelle, John Hendricks, Eugene Redding, George E. Stone and Lillian Tucker. Tomorrow "The Danger Line," a three part Keweenaw dramatic Arnold and others, will be presented. Rose Lane has secured a success in college theatricals and won the congratulations of the school. John Herriman, a New York star, quite an honorable man in his thirties has been her and tells her the portrayal was excellent. Having had she received the congratulations when she was summoned home by a telegram notifying her of her father's death. She finds her mother in dire straits, being forced to take in sewing to live. Rose abandons her hope of stage success and starts out to hunt a position.

MEXICAN SPEAKER TOPLINER OF THE CHAUTAUQUA BILL

Emeterio de la Garza, 12 years a Deputy, Will Give Some Facts.

KNOWS SITUATION IN SOUTH

Is a Lawyer and Was Valued Advisor of Diaz, Madero and Huerta. Other Offerings on the Program This Year Are Said to be Very Good.

Do you know the real attitude of the 15,000,000 peaceable and law-abiding Mexican people toward the United States? Perhaps not, but Hon. Emeterio de la Garza, who was for 12 years a member of the Mexican Chamber of Deputies, and who will explain this attitude and will give the only practical solution for the perplexing Mexican problem in his great public lecture on the fourth night of the Chautauqua, "Mexico and the United States," will tell you. He has given his entire life to the study of Mexico's national and international problems. He has been connected as friend and adviser with the governments of Diaz, de la Barea, Madero and Huerta. Consequently he is able to tell us as few other men, "the real truth about Mexico." The title of his lecture will be "What's Wrong with Mexico?"

Preceding Emeterio de la Garza's lecture, the Voltaire Male Quartet, will render a program of delightful quartet numbers, interspersed with instrumental selections, comic readings, monologues and sketches. The Voltaire are all talented musicians and gifted entertainers, and their program is one continuous succession of mirth and melody. The Voltaire will also be heard on the fourth afternoon of the Chautauqua, preceding the program of Mrs. Joseph Chilton, melodramatist, who will give selections from well-known southern writers. Mr. Chilton is herself a native of the south, and is particularly well-known for her impersonations of the southern negro. Her selections will be taken from popular southern authors, among them Thomas Stuart, Nelson Page, Ruth McNary Stuart, James Lane Allen and the delightful "Uncle Remus" stories.

The Chautauqua program will be opened with a concert in two parts by Dunbar's Sirens Singers—a mixed quartet with pianist consisting of two ladies and three men, who will render a varied and interesting program of vocal and instrumental music, interspersed with readings, character impersonations and delightful comic sketches. From Charles Harding, accompanist, who is also a gifted composer, in Miss Lucile Price, contralto and reader, the personnel of the entire organization include real artists in music and entertainment. As a varied feature of their evening program, this talented company will give a novel "Old Folks Concert" in quaint colonial costumes.

Appearing with the Sirens Singers on the opening day will be Henry Clark—one of the most popular lecturers on the Chautauqua platform—who will speak upon the interesting topic "Play Ball." While based upon the great national game, "Play Ball" deals primarily with the ball game of life and is a practical, helpful inspirational message that old and young alike will thoroughly appreciate.

The second day's program will be notable because of the appearance of the Tchaikowsky String Quartet, one of the most artistic and talented companies on the Chautauqua platform, and Dr. Frederic Poole, Chinese authority. Leon Weltman, conductor of the Tchaikowsky String Quartet was for some time an associate of the great master whose name his quartet bears, and has toured Russia, Germany, England, Scotland and Ireland with many of the well-known symphony orchestras and artists. While in London he became well known as a conductor and had the leadership at various times of several large orchestras there. The company which will be heard here under his direction includes artists of real talent, and their program will be a delightful treat to every lover of the best in music.

Dr. Frederic Poole, who will also be heard on the second day, was for many years a resident of China, and has studied the custom, language and manners of this ancient Empire from the viewpoint of a physician, scholar and lecturer. In the afternoon he will tell of the interesting political and social developments in China during recent years, and will give many inside details of the Chinese revolution which he terms "the most portentous upheaval in history—and one which is destined to affect every civilized land during the next century." Dr. Poole will appear in Chinese costume, and will, during the course of his lecture, explain and illustrate the formation of the Chinese language, the curious, yet logical picture words that constitute the strangest speech ever used by man.

But another feature of Dr. Poole's program fully as interesting as his lecture will be his rendition in the evening of the first act of that picturesque Chinese play, "The Yellow Jacket." Mr. Poole is the only person authorized by the writers of the play to give it in its dramatic recital form, and he produces it with special permission of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Coburn, owners of all dramatic rights. The play, which will be given in Chinese costume and with appropriate stage setting dates back to the very beginning of the drama and embraces the philosophy, love and laughter of the ancient empire. It has been universally pronounced the most winning, attractive and appealing of all such "play" interpretations.

But the program for the first two days of the Chautauqua is only representative of the delightful music, powerful lectures and pleasing and instructive entertainments to be found throughout the entire seven days. There will be heard as well concerts by the New York City Concert band, the Arcadians and Mme. Dora de Philippi, prima donna of the Chicago Grand Opera company, assisted by Donald McKeith, Australian violinist, and Arthur Fletcher, accompanist, who is a member of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, together with lectures by John Kendrick Banks, humorous author and lecturer, and James Hoffmann Dutton. In addition there will be such delightful entertainment numbers as Dawson's Anaristic pictures and a crayon lecture by Miss Evelyn Dargelt. From first to last, the program of

When Nervous and Run Down.

Corry, Pa.—"A lady next door recommended me to use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I was in a nervous and run-down state. I had no disease that I knew of but was dragging around. I used 2 bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and it was very good. It did all I could expect and I got over my nervous, run-down condition. I always think well and speak favorably of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription."—Miss O. W. Sawyer, 28 Brook St.

The mighty restorative power of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription quickly cures all womanly troubles to disappear—compels the organs to properly perform their natural functions, corrects displacements, overcomes irregularities, removes pain and misery at certain times and brings back health and strength to nervous, irritable and exhausted women.

Get it this very day from any medicine dealer, in either liquid or tablet form, or write Dr. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Doctor Pierce's Pills are unequalled as a Liver Pill. Smallest, easiest to take. Cure Sick Headache, Bilious Headache, Dizziness, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, and all derangement of the Liver, Stomach and Bowels.

The Chautauqua will be a powerful educational and inspirational force that will help greatly to advance the cause of right living and right thinking in this community as well as provide delightful entertainment. For these reasons, it should receive the whole-hearted support of every citizen.

BIG RALLY HELD

State Christian Endeavorers Gather in Harrisburg.

HARRISBURG, July 14.—Pittsburg and Western Pennsylvania Christian Endeavorers took a leading part in yesterday's sessions of the big state convention now on.

Rev. J. Sain Leland of Pittsburg, who was once located in Connelville, spoke on evangelistic work and means that can be employed to bring members of the Christian Endeavor Society into the church. He laid stress on personal work.

A great rally and pageant of Junior workers was the feature of the afternoon session, and at night William T. Ellis of Swarthmore made the principal address. A parade was prevented by a terrible thunderstorm that swept over the city.

Fayette county delegates are wearing badges of white ribbon with the words "County of Fayette" in black. Philadelphia was chosen for the 1916 convention by the state executive committee, and when the name of Pittsburg was withdrawn the choice of the eastern metropolis was made unanimous.

The convention will end today and on Saturday the Endeavorers will go on an excursion to the Gettysburg battlefield.

To Build Boulevard.
PEKING, July 14.—An American firm has closed a contract with the Chinese Government to construct 80 miles of boulevard connecting Peking with the Western Hills and the Marco Polo Bridge, one of the most famous bridges on the Han river. The new boulevard will give Peking a circular boulevard system and afford transportation to a large new suburban residence section in the foothills west of the Chinese capital.

We clambered across the slant of the flowery spangled meadow to the bench, just within the fringe of the pines. It proved to be flat, and from the edge of it down the hill sloped a little slope marked by the feathered bracken. We entered a cool green place, peopled with shadow and the rare, considered notes of soft voiced birds. Just over our threshold, as it were, was the sunlit, chirpy, buzzing, bright colored busy world. Overhead a wind of many voices hummed through the pine tops. The golden sunlight flooded the mountainous opposite, dashed from the stream, lay languorous on the mossy rocks. The air of it slanted through an unguessed gap in the hills behind us to touch with mangle the very tops of the trees over our heads. The sheen of the precious metal was over the land.

CHAPTER XIII.

The First Gold.
We arose before day light, picked out our homes, left our dishes unwashed and hurried down to the diggings. Just at sunrise, carrying our gold pans, or "washbushes," and our extra tools. The bar was as yet deserted. We set to work with a will, taking turns with the pickaxe and the two shovels. I must confess that our speed slowed down considerably after the first wild burst, but we kept at it steadily. It was hard work, and there is no denying it. Just the sort of plain hard work the day laborer does, when he digs sewer trenches in the city streets, only worse, perhaps, owing to the nature of the soil. It had struck me since that those few years of hard labor in the diggings, from '10 to '13 or '14, was more actual manual toil accomplished than was ever before performed in the same time by the same number of men. The disheartening of those rearing we now understood. They had expected to take the gold without toil and were dismayed at the labor it had required. At any rate, we thought we were doing our share that morning, especially after the sun came up. We wielded our implements manfully, piled our debris to one side and gradually achieved a sort of crumbling in certain excavation reluctant to stay cupped. About an hour after our arrival the other miners began to appear, smoking their pipes. They stretched themselves lazily, yawned and rubbed their eyes. Our friend of the day before nodded at us cheerfully and hopped down into his hole.

We removed what seemed to us tons of rock. About noon, just as we were thinking rather dazedly of knocking off work for a little, which in our early morning eagerness we had forgotten to bring, Johnny turned up a shovelful whose lower third consisted of the pulverized bluish clay. We promptly forgot both lunch and our own weariness.

"Hey!" shouted our friend, scrambling from his own claim. "Pass with the rock! What are you considering here, a volcano?" He peered down at us. "Pay dirt, hey? Well, take it easy. It won't run away."

Take it easy! As well ask us to quit entirely! We tore at the rubble, which eagerly and obediently cascaded down upon us from the sides. We scurried eagerly for more of that bluish clay. At last we had filled our three pans with a rather mixed lot of the dirt and raced to the river. Johnny fell over a boulder and scattered his painful far and wide. His manner of scuttling back to the hole after more reminded me irresistibly of the way a contestant in a hurdle race hurries back to the starting point to get his candle relighted.

We paused that dirt clummiest and hastily enough and undoubtedly lost much valuable sand overboard, but we ended each with a string of color. We crowded together, comparing our pans. Then we went crazy. I suppose we had about a quarter of a dollar's worth of gold between us, but that was not the point. The long journey with all its hardships and adventures, the toll, the uncertainty, the hopes, the disappointments and reactions had at last their visible tangible conclusion. The tiny flecks of gold were a stabal. We yapped aloud, we kicked up our heels, we shook hands, we finally joined hands and danced around and around.

We worked with entire absorption quite oblivious to all that was going on about us. It was only by accident that Yank looked up at last, so I do not know how long Don Gaspar had been there.

"Will you look at that?" cried Yank. Don Gaspar, still in his embroidered boots, his crimson velvet breeches, his white shirt and his sombrero, but without the blue and silver jacket, was busily washing a pickaxe a hundred feet or so away. His companion, or servant, was doing the heavier shovel work.

"Why, oh, why," breathed Johnny at last, "do you suppose, if he must mine, he doesn't buy himself a suit of dungs or a flannel shirt?"

"I'll bet it's the first hard work he ever did in his life," surmised Yank. "And I'll bet he won't do that very long," I guessed.

But Don Gaspar seemed to have more staking power than we gave him credit for. We did not pay him much further attention, for we were busy with our own affairs. But every time we glanced in his direction he appeared to be still at it. Our sack of sand was growing heavier, as, indeed, were our limbs. As a matter of fact we had been at harder work than any of us had been accustomed to for very long hours, beneath a scorching sun, without food and under strong excitement. We did not know when to quit, but the sun at last decided it for us by dipping below the mountains to the west.

The following days were replicas of the first. We ate hurriedly at odd times, we worked feverishly; we sank into our tumbled blankets at night too tired to wiggle. But the bucketful sack of gold was swelling and rounding out, and we were satisfied. By the end of the week it contained over a pound.

But the long hours, the excitement and the inadequate food told on our nerves. We snapped at each other impatiently at times and once or twice came near to open quarrels. Johnny and I were constantly pecking at each other over the most trivial concerns. One morning we were halfway to the bar when we remembered that we had neglected to picket out the horses. It was necessary for one of us to go back, and we were all reluctant to do so.

"I'll be — If I'm going to lug 'way up that hill," I growled to myself. "I'll let them up yesterday, anyway."

Johnny caught this.

"Well, it wasn't your turn yesterday," he pointed out, "and it is today. I've got nothing to do with what you chose to do yesterday."

"Or any other day," I muttered. "What's that?" cried Johnny triumphantly. "I couldn't hear. Speak up!"

We were flushed and crying each other incoherently.

"That'll do!" said Yank, with an unexpected tone of authority. "Nobody will go back and nobody will go ahead. We'll just sit down on this log here while we smoke our pipe pieces. I've got something to say."

Johnny and I turned on him with a certain bellicosity mingled with surprise. Yank had so habitually acted the part of ineffectuality that his decided air of authority confused us. His speech had straightened; his head was up; his mild eye sparkled. Suddenly I felt like a bad small boy, and I believe Johnny was the same. After a moment's hesitation we sat down on the log.

"Now," said Yank firmly, "it's about time we took stock. We been here now five days. We ain't had a decent meal of vittles in that time. We ain't fixed up our camp a tallo. We ain't been to town to see the sights. We don't even know the looks of the man that's camped down below us. We're bone too danged busy to be decent. Now we're goin' to call a halt. I should judge we have a pound of gold or thereabouts. How much is that worth, Johnny? You can figure in your head."

"Along about $250," said Johnny after a moment.

"Well, keep on diggerin'! How much does that come to apiece?" But we didn't even know the looks of the man that's camped down below us. We're bone too danged busy to be decent. Now we're goin' to call a halt. I should judge we have a pound of gold or thereabouts. How much is that worth, Johnny? You can figure in your head."

"About $80, of course."

"And dividin' eighty by five?" persisted Yank.

"Sixteen."

"Well," drawled Yank, his steely blue eye softening to a twinkle, "six a day is fair wages, to be sure, but nothin' to get wildly excited over." He surveyed the two of us with some humor.

"Hain't thought of it that way, had you?" he asked. "Nuther had I until last night. I was so dog tired I couldn't sleep, and I got to diggerin' a little on my own hook."

"Why, I can do better than that in San Francisco, with half the work!" I cried.

"Maybe for awhile," said Yank, "but here we got a chance to make a big tallo most any time and in the meantime to make good wages."

"Hain't thought of it that way, had you?" he asked. "Nuther had I until last night. I was so dog tired I couldn't sleep, and I got to diggerin' a little on my own hook."

Pipp Is Developing Into Great First Sacker, Says Donovan

ALTHOUGH he is not the equal of Jake Daubert or Hal Chase or perhaps one or two others, Walter Pipp is some pumpkin as an initial sacker. In fact, Manager Bill Donovan states that in another year he will be the equal of any guardian of bag No. 1 in the game. No first sacker has shown as much improvement in his playing as Pipp, says William "not alone in the field line but all around work." During the past few weeks he has been whaling the ball at a great rate. I look for big things from this bird, adds the Yankees' leader. Picture shows Pipp taking a healthy swing at the ball.

NEED OF CAREFUL THOUGHT IN GOLF

Linksman Who Uses Noodle More Than Niblick Better Off.

CULTIVATE A GOLFING MIND

Game Would Be More Enjoyable and Enticing if Player Could Get Better of Himself in Playing of Round John Anderson Gives Some Points.

The necessity of sustained power until the last putt is made, the need for careful headwork, and cautious thought were most apparent in the Massachusetts open championship, which was finished a short time ago on the links of the Pine Barren Country club course at West Newton, writes John G. Anderson. There can be gleaned from that title play of the professionals and amateurs a few lessons which if heeded, many men, future as well, if not in the winning of a championship title, still in the everyday golf where success or failure brings joy or pain.

The case of Jesse Guilford may be taken as a first example. This prominent and most promising player was not on hand so I believe in the two days or three days which were given up to the pro rounds. The result was that when he started off with Guilbert Nichols in the first round he did not have the golf perspective which is so essential to those who would play their drives and especially approach shots with the right kind of caution.

Deane Burn has many times and it is necessary to keep straight. Usually Guilford is a straight driver, but he had not accustomed himself to the driving between narrow passageways. The result was a stalled attempt on his first round to keep his shot in the straight and narrow path and since the way of manner was, out so to want the end of shot making Guilford hooked his drives and branches into trouble, played his mauls short and did not have the feel of the greens as he would have had with a round or two of practice. A 95 in the first round put him out of the running whereas a score of 80 would have won for him the title. In his third, an excellent round, he was the only man to break 90 or under, and in the last nine holes of the last round he was only 44 to the hole. What a finish he might have made if he had had a real chance for a score and had a partner with him. It is his first round to take sufficient time to practice before a championship.

The play which prompted this article however was none of the above mentioned but although it has a good lesson. It was the play of Patrick Durie going to the green hole, which gave rise to the statement that there is always a need for sustained power to the end and a demand for the most careful thought in times of golfing need.

I had followed Durie for the last ten holes and had seen him play with a steady, a mistake after the tenth hole, where he scored a 6. He was kept in the play of his nearest rivals Brady and Barnes and knew what he had to do to win. He played according to schedule on every occasion and when the last hole hole was reached he knew that he had to make only a 3—the hole is a par 4—to win the title and purse. If he had had to make a 4 to tie for the title I believe he would have done so for he would have kept up at top notch. The thought that he had the title as well as won perhaps caused him to relax in his efforts—not consciously, of course, but with less in tense effort. This showed in his drive. He went back slow, as usual, but at the very last minute he put his right hand into the shot with more than the customary force, and a pulled ball resulted. It crashed through the trees and came to rest in a good lie with the line to the hole cut off but with plenty of open space where he could play the ball a hundred yards or so up straight and then have an easy pitch to the green and two putts to win. A Vardon Taylor or Braid would have been able to play that shot I know with a slice right on to the green, but Durie did not take the opportunity to try such a stroke. He did the wise thing in playing out straight. But he did not walk forward far to get a better idea of the distance to a certain big maple which would loom up in his way if he went 150 yards. An amateur I am sure would have taken that precaution. Not so Durie, who banged away with a million and then found himself dead stymied by a spreading cluster of branches. There were four plays whereby the title could be won, provided he went down in two putts on the green. Durie could have played a low clock shot under the branches of the tree and reached the green or he could have played out to the light and had an approach of forty yards or less to lay dead to get his five, or he could have even played to the left of the tree and let the contour of the ground bring down the ball to the edge of the green or he could have played the ball with a firm niblick shot over the center of the trees and landed the ball on the green.

This was the spectacular shot which one would have been tempted to try but which common sense would say should never have been attempted at such a stage of the game. If it were necessary to lay the ball dead that was the only shot to be played, but here were two shots after the tree problem was solved. Durie essayed to play over and he took out his niblick, but a light maul which when he hit the ball gave him too little elevation and sent the ball crashing into the tree branches. Every one knew then that it was all off that even though he did lay the next shot within eight feet of the hole he would be short on his next, and so he was. Opportunity knocked but found two caddies an attitude a too quick snap judgment and failure to the result. It is nine times nine times out of a hundred that many times must we be told or tell ourselves that a thought in time saves one stroke or later. Golf is a world bag to state, will be more pleasing more enjoyable and enthralling if we can get the better of ourselves in the playing of a round, master our first desires and be careful of our course of action.

WILL NOT ABOLISH STYMIE.

Arizona Welcomes It as Extra Hazard in Golf.

According to the Field of London there is little prospect of an agreement between England and the United States Golf association over the question of the abolition of the stymie. Abroad, the score is a matter of little weight in comparison with the result of the match and consequently the stymie is welcomed as an extra hazard in the game.

In America the medal score is seriously kept and there is also a fondness for amateur matches where a stymie is a very inconvenient thing. Former players and many other prominent players have come out wholeheartedly against the practice of playing long services and as a general thing the stymie is discarded in private matches and the closer ball is played first in stroke competition. No such practice is followed abroad.

It is possible that the same action will be taken in the case of the stymie as was followed on the question of the Scheuchter putter which is permitted everywhere except in Great Britain. The two golfing bodies may agree to differ as to the method of playing the stymie and still retain friendly relations.

IS A CHIP OF THE OLD BLOCK

Bernie Wefers, Jr., Emulates His Famous Father.

There may never be another Ty Cobb. There is another Bernie Wefers. Just the other day the headline appeared: "Wefers Breaks Sprint Record." The story began: "Bernie Wefers, Jr., broke the high school record for the 100 yard dash when he negotiated the century in 10.15 in the high school champion ship. Young Wefers runs for De Witt Clinton high school of New York. He also won the 20 in the good time of 23 seconds." There is another Bernie Wefers. He is a son of the Bernie who went five years ago was the greatest sprinter in the world and whom many regard as the greatest short distance runner that ever lived.

It is seldom that a son takes up the athletic sport of his father and accomplishes much in the same field. Young Wefers appears to be the exception to prove the rule.

He has been winning consistently all year at the distances at which his father gained his fame. Truly a child of the old block.

TY COBB AND THE FIELD

I had never seen Ty Cobb play until his year. My Lee Magee of the Yankees. Despite all I had read of him I never thought that he was as great a ball player as he is.

I think he does everything, better than any one else. To me it is the biggest joy in the world to talk of a second Ty Cobb. There are many great ball players. Not one is in the same class with the Georgian. That goes for Speaker, Jackson, Robertson or any one else. Cobb stands where the rest of us stop. You don't know what a marvel he seems to another ball player. I have watched him now in two series. My bet is off to him. He stands alone.

Miller Huggins Possesses the Noodle

When Outfielder Tommy Long was put Manager Miller Huggins put him on the inactive list for ten days and restored himself as an active player. Huggins had declared he would play no more ball but things broke so badly with his team that he neglected himself into the breach. Huggins may be about done but he still can show them a few tricks by the power of example.

UNCLE SAM MAKES BIG SUM AVAILABLE FOR BETTER ROADS

$75,000,000 Will Help the States Improve Their Highways.

50-50 IS BASIS OF SETTLEMENT

Area, Population and Mileage of Post Roads to be Means of Apportionment: $10,000,000 Is Appropriated for Roads Through National Parks.

Special to The Courier.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—The sum of $75,000,000 of Federal funds is made available for the construction of rural roads, by the passage of the Federal Aid Road Bill which became a law on July 11. Of this sum, $75,000,000 is to be expended for the construction of rural post roads under co-operative arrangements with the highway departments of the various states, and $10,000,000 is to be expended for roads and trails within or partly within the National Forest. The Act limits the Federal Government's share in road work in co-operation with the states to 50 per cent of the estimated cost of construction. Federal aid may be extended to the construction of any rural post road, excluding all streets or roads in towns having a population of 2,500 or more except the portions of such streets or roads on which the houses are, on an average, more than 200 feet apart.

Five million dollars is made available for expenditure during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1917, and thereafter the appropriation is increased at the rate of $5,000,000 a year until 1921, when the sum provided is $25,000,000, making a total of $75,000,000. In addition, an appropriation of $1,000,000 a year for 10 years, a total of $10,000,000, is made available for the development of roads and trails wholly or partly within the National Forest.

The class of roads to be built and the method of construction are to be mutually agreed upon by the Secretary of Agriculture and the state highway departments.

The Act provides that after making necessary deductions for administrative provisions, not to exceed 3 per cent, of the appropriation for any one fiscal year, the Secretary of Agriculture shall apportion the remainder of each year's appropriation in the following manner:

One-third in the ratio which the area of each state bears to the total area of all the states.

One-third in the ratio which the population of each state bears to the total population of all the states.

One-third in the ratio which the mileage of rural delivery routes and star routes bears to that in all the states.

Project statements setting forth the proposed construction of any rural road or roads to a state are to be submitted by the State Highway Department to the Secretary of Agriculture, and upon approval by the secretary all necessary surveys, plans, specifications and estimates must be furnished. The roads projected must be of a substantial character, and items covering engineering, inspection, and unforeseen contingencies are not to exceed 10 per cent of the total estimated cost of the work.

Upon completion of the work as approved by the secretary, the amount set aside for the project is to be paid to the proper state official. The Secretary of Agriculture is given authority in his discretion to make partial payments as the work progresses, but not in excess of the Federal Government's pro rata share of the labor and material which have been actually put into construction work, nor in excess of $10,000 per mile, exclusive of the cost of bridges of more than 20 feet clear span. All construction work is subject to the inspection and approval of the Secretary of Agriculture.

The various states receiving aid under the provisions of the Act are charged with the making of needed repairs and the preservation of a reasonably smooth surface, considering the type of the road, but are not obligated to make extraordinary repairs or undertake reconstruction. If, after due notice, a state fails to maintain a federally aided road properly, the secretary is required to refuse further aid until the road has been properly repaired at state expense.

The sum of $10,000,000 is made available in yearly appropriations of $1,000,000 for the co-operative construction and maintenance of roads and trails within or partly within the National Forests by the United States, territories, or counties in which the forests lie. Expenditures for this purpose are not to exceed 10 per cent of the value of the timber and forage resources available for income upon the National Forests where the roads or trails are constructed. Beginning with the next fiscal year after an agreement is made between the Secretary of Agriculture and a state, territory, or county for the co-operative construction of such roads, 10 per cent of all revenues from such forest are to be applied toward reimbursing the United States government for funds expended in road work until the whole amount advanced shall have been returned.

Constipation and Indigestion.

"I have used Chamberlain's Tablets and must say they are the best I have ever used for constipation and indigestion. My wife also used them for indigestion and they did her good."

Writes Eugene S. Knight, Wilmington, N. C. Chamberlain's Tablets are mild and gentle in their action. Give them a trial. You are certain to be pleased with the agreeable laxative effect which they produce. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.
